4-H MEMBERS ARE CAUTIONED ON SAFETY

By Tom Cassidy

Safety Awards—

Robert Producers of the Kinston Club wrote the best essay on "Safety In The Home and On The Farm." In the Junior Division, Curtis Donaldson, of the Curtis Club wrote a good essay on the same subject.

Both boys were awarded loving cups at the 4-H Club Rally. By having written these essays, I am sure Robert and Curtis will be much more safety conscious this summer.

Coffee 4-H boys and girls will be spending most of their time in the home and on the farm during the summer. A lot of accidents happen each year around the home with farm tractors and equipment. Let's concentrate on being safety conscious this summer. Most accidents can be prevented. It's up to you to do something about it.

Tractor Program—

Boys if you are interested in tractors and driving and in safety, you will want to attend the 4-H tractor program and driving contest to be held Saturday morning, May 30, at the Redmon - Windham Tractor Company in Elba.

We plan to start the Tractor Program at 8:30 on the day of the contest. The program will be a day of fun and learning. The winner of the Tractor Driving Contest will receive a cash prize and a certificate. The contest will be held at the Redmon - Windham Tractor Company in Elba.

Feeder Pig Sale—

Time is running out for consigning pigs to the special Feeder Pig Sale to be held Monday afternoon, June 1, at the Oak Ridge yard. About 50 counties are participating in the sale. 4-H members who have pigs to sell should be interested in consigning a few pigs to this special sale. Pigs must be fresh off the farm and they must be healthy. Feeder pigs between 30 and 100 pounds will be accepted. If you have pigs that will be ready to move by June 1, you might profit by selling at this sale. Send us a card if you are interested. The sale starts at 1:00 p.m.

Speaking Contest—

The Annual 4-H Club Essay and Speaking Contest will be held at the Elba Court House Friday morning, May 29. Five boys and five girls will speak on "Farmer Cooperatives." Prizes will be awarded to the top three winners in each division. We invite the people in Elba and the county that are interested in seeing the boys and girls speak, to attend this program, which will start at 10:00.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

By T. C. Self and Joe Wildman, S.C.S.

Farm ponds have been completed for W. H. Taylor and personnel assisted in engineering and construction. Will Vaughn, Soil Conservation Mr. Taylor built his pond primarily as a means of providing for poultry. This pond is fed by a small spring which will provide adequate water during severe hot and dry weather and will store approximately 2 million gallons of water. Even though built as a source of water, Mr. Taylor will stock his pond with fish and as a source for livestock water.

You should notify this office immediately if you want a pond checked for an unbalanced condition.

Crimson clover seed are now ready to harvest. Coffee county farmers who have old patches of crimson clover that have reseeded consistently for several years should make an effort to harvest these seeds. There is a good demand for reseeded clover that has proven its ability to reseed readily. Not all crimson clover has sufficient hard seed to reseed each year.

W. H. Taylor will harvest seed from an old stand of crimson clover. Two fields of Mike clover were observed in Houston county recently. Mike is a relatively new clover in South Alabama. These two fields made unusually good growth this year. Rank growth of more than knee deep was observed. An abundance of seed were produced this spring. Seeding rates are 3-5 pounds of seed per acre.

Those interested in securing Mike clover seed for fall plantings should contact Soil Conservation personnel.

22 YEARS AGO

Announcement is made from Troy State Teachers' College that Miss Bonnie Ellis of Kinston has been elected president of the Baptist Students Union for the coming year.

Mr. J. N. Wallace of New Brockton, Coffee County Director of Rural Electrification states that work is progressing nicely on that project in the county. Approximately 12 1/2 miles of wire have already been staked, and 25 more are to be staked.

Commencement exercises at Elba Schools will begin tonight for the 1957-58 session. Elder W. T. Grider of Troy will deliver the commencement sermon Sunday evening, Dr. A. H. Collins, State Superintendent of Education, will deliver the address at the graduation exercises next Friday night.

TWINS BORN

Sgt. and Mrs. Bart Whitley of Hawaii announced the birth of twin girls born on Monday, April 27. The identical little have been named Patricia Louise and Pamela Lyn. The Whitleys have another daughter, two years old.

Work is progressing rapidly on a new and modern service station at the site of the old Blue Hotel building, corner of Claxton and West. Simmons Streets. Mr. F. F. Clark of the Elba Oil Company purchased this property several months ago and had the old hotel building moved to the west side of the lot, across the alley from the telephone exchange. After moving, the building was found to be in a bad state and during the past few days, has been completely torn down.

Joseph David Blocker, a resident of Montgomery for 25 years, died at his home there Tuesday after a brief illness. Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Lula Thompson Blocker, one son, James Blocker, Houston, Texas; two sisters, Mrs. Dora Prescott and Miss Debra Blocker, both of Elba; three brothers, E. P. Blocker, Andalusia, Jess Blocker, Elba, and O. B. Blocker, Atlanta, Ga.

At the regular meeting of the Elba Chamber of Commerce held Tuesday evening at Talley's Cafe, a number of civic projects were discussed, the most important of which was the care of Evergreen cemetery. As a result of discussion, a committee composed of J. M. Bonneau, D. J. Brooks, and James English was named to look after this work, which will be done through contributions of local citizens.

Cotton's lower price supports and the increased subsidy for export should mean a wide open market for this year's crop... especially abroad... looks could be deceiving, however... the export subsidy is fine except that it is subject to change by the USDA before the season's cotton is sold... this means that foreign mills will buy as little cotton as possible hoping to hold up American sales until an increase in the subsidy is announced... thus by living a hand-to-mouth cotton operation they will hope to influence the price of U. S. cotton... this could be stopped by the announcement of USDA that the subsidy is firm and the price of cotton will not be cut during the season... one other thing: If the merchant must buy government cotton, "tight unused" and have no chance of getting an advance when the cotton is not as described, this, in effect, increases the price... the merchant will have to figure that risk when he buys cotton... some experts think this risk is worth as much as two cents per pound... why won't the USDA allow a ceiling?... nobody else sells cotton without guaranteeing it to be as represented... why should the government?...

How many plants to grow will depend on the space available. Each plant should yield 10 to 15 pounds of fruit and will need at least 4 sq. ft. of space if grown upright on a stake, twice as much if allowed to sprawl on the ground. The staked plants will yield less per plant, but as much or more for the area occupied.

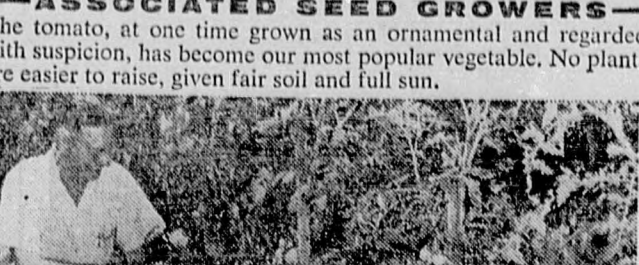

Each needs a stake 5 to 6 ft. long, sunk a foot or more in the ground, though the plants can also do very well on a trellis or wire supported by poles. As they grow, they put out shoots where a leaf is pinched off with finger and thumb so that only a main stem, or at most two, may develop. When the top of the pole is reached, the plant must be pinched there also. In tying the plants to their poles, use coarse string or a strip of rag and tie it lightly to the pole but loosely round the stem.

Tomatoes on the ground create shade which saves moisture those grown upright should have a thick mulch, or covering, of grass clippings, leaves or hay. Whether upright or prostrate, the plants will be greatly helped by a ring of fertilizer applied after the first green fruits appear, 6 or 8 inches away from the stem.

Some gardeners buy seedling plants and are content with whatever varieties are offered. This is especially good in northern areas where the summers are short. Elsewhere little time is lost by sowing direct in the garden and shading the seedlings with Hotkaps, which Tomatoes grown on stakes produce heavy yields and are ideal for the small garden.

It is very expensive and allows a choice of varieties. Of these there are many, in red, pink and yellow. The new red hybrids yield heavily, but Marjorie and Rutgers are still great favorites. Some people like the old Ponderosa and Beefsteak for the somewhat puffy fruits; others prefer the Italian type, such as Red Top and San Marzano which are oblong and solid, with little juice. Well worth growing are the small-fruited varieties which bear clusters like little cherries in red or yellow.

Beans are also easy to grow. Originally they were all pole beans, and like staked tomatoes, these are space savers. But the bush beans produce the better of pole beans should not be started until the soil is warm, then the seeds should be set about 2 ins. deep, 3 ins. apart. A family of four or five may need 50 to 100 feet of row, 4 or 5 ft. of seed, depending on whether supplies are wanted for freezing or canning. For a continuous supply, repeat sowing at two week intervals until about 2 months before autumn may be expected.

Everybody likes to grow sweet corn, remembering the maxim that the pot should be set to boil before the ears are picked; but the question is whether there is room for the large plants, which yield little for the space they take. For the home gardener who requires only a few ears at a time small plantings should be renewed at 2 to 10 day intervals.

WHERE DID THE PRESCRIPTION SYMBOL COME FROM?

Authorities disagree. It may be an abbreviation of the Latin word for "to prescribe," or it may be the sign of the pages god, Asclepius. Another theory claims that scholars of the middle ages often both physicians and mathematicians. By drawing the symbol, a prescription was written in a way that was not subject to misinterpretation.

You have to GROW FAST to keep up with THE INDUSTRIAL SOUTHEAST

During 1958, Southern Natural Gas Company inaugurated the greatest expansion program in its history. Our natural gas delivery capacity climbed to about 1.2 billion cubic feet a day. By the end of 1959, we plan to have invested $100,000,000 for the system expansion program and connection of new gas supplies and to have upped our delivery capacity by 35% to 1.35 billion cubic feet a day.

It takes rapid growth to keep up with the increasing needs of our territory and our customers.

TINY PUP SAVES OWNER'S LIFE BY STRAY SHOT

A two-month old Boxer pup named Duchess saved Lonnau Rowe from death or serious injury from a hunter's bullet which found its way into the back yard of Rowe's home on the Elba-Enterprise highway, inside city limits, one evening last week.

After staying several days at a veterinarian's hospital, Duchess' back home and looking about the yard apparently still saving the bullet which had spent most of its force when it little body, in Rowe's arms, was all that was between the bullet and Rowe's heart.

Rowe had picked up the puppy about sundown to carry it to its little house when he noticed blood oozing down his arm. A glance told that the bullet which had spent most of its force when it little body, in Rowe's arms, was all that was between the bullet and Rowe's heart.

Police were called and they searched the woodland, near Rowe's house and found some dogs but no hunters. Because the veterinarian feared for the dog's life to operate, the size of the bullet was never determined. The bullet lodged in the dog's chest near the liver.
